3 Continuing Dental Education Credits

Designed for Professional Allied Staff

ABOUT THE COURSE

The Dental Implant Assisting Skills Lab is being presented in conjunction with the 2009 AAOMS Dental Implant Conference. This skills lab is a three-hour training session incorporating didactic and hands-on training for oral and maxillofacial surgery assistants.

The skills lab will begin with a short presentation on implants, including placement and use of various bone grafting techniques and grafting material for the preparation and placement of implants and/or as augmentation materials in existing dental implants. This will be followed by a lecture and demonstration of aseptic technique for implant surgery, after which participants will place an actual implant in a bone model. Assistants completing the lab will be able to explain the procedures required for aseptic surgical technique in implant placement surgery. Participants will also be able to discuss the techniques and equipment required to place a dental implant and leave with an understanding of the physical skills necessary to place a dental implant. All levels of skill are welcome to attend this course. By attending this program, you will take an active role in enhancing your professional knowledge and skills, thereby helping the team build a better practice.
