Pharmacology for the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgical Assistant

Overview

This 90-minute webinar will review basic pharmacological concepts with emphasis on sedation/anesthetic and emergency drugs.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

1. Explain basic pharmacologic concepts and their clinical applications.
2. Relate the sedation/anesthesia continuum to drugs and patients.
3. Describe the occupational hazards associated with trace amounts of nitrous oxide in the working environment.
4. Define key recommendations of drug storage in the OMS office.
5. Discuss requirements of maintaining an accurate drug log.

About the Speaker

Larry Stigall, DDS, received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and his doctorate from Baylor College of Dentistry. He completed his OMS residency at the University of Oklahoma. Dr. Stigall is in private practice.
