Effective Team Meetings: The Catalyst for Leaders

Overview

The modern oral and maxillofacial surgery practice relies on an educated staff and cohesive team objectives. Effective team meetings are critical to ensure a consistent, successful outcome for patients, referring offices and team members.

Participants will leave this 90-minute webinar with the necessary strategies to effectively lead and manage their team and create an accountable team approach to running their practice.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this program, participants should be able to:

1. Define and relay practice objectives and best practices during team meetings.
2. Demonstrate comprehension of practice systems, scripting and job responsibilities.
3. Use team meetings to evaluate best practices and measure progress toward both individual and practice objectives.

About the Speaker

Kevin Johnson is a recognized leader in the dental and medical communities with a successful track record of helping practices transform into more profitable, effective businesses. Over the past 20 years, he has worked with hundreds of practices, ranging from startups to well-established, multi-location and multi-doctor practices. This has led him to develop a series of innovative best practices that are adapted to each client to achieve optimal results.

Johnson provides insightful, experience-supported guidance on the clinical, administrative, marketing and business issues affecting today’s medical and dental practices. He brings substantial experience working with a variety of dental and medical office systems, helping him improve operations from the inside out while using resources already in place. He also brings a unique perspective to the office dynamics that affect staff performance and interoffice relations.
