

Are you at risk for oral cancer?

The fastest-growing cause of oral, head and neck cancers is HPV – the human papillomavirus. In fact, if you have HPV, you're 30 times more likely to develop oral cancer. Oral cancer can be treated when detected early, so visit our web site and learn how to examine yourself for possible symptoms. If you have a symptom, see your dentist, oral and facial surgeon or other healthcare professional immediately. For more information, visit MyOMS.org.
